

Industrial Energy Efficiency for Malaysian Manufacturing Sector

July 30th, 2012

Dear Sir/Madam,

In June 2011, the GEF and UNIDO approved the project on Industrial Energy Efficiency for Malaysian Manufacturing Sector (IEEMMS) project. The objective of the project is to promote energy efficiency improvements in the Malaysian manufacturing sector through the implementation of energy management system based on the ISO 50001, Energy Management Standards and the application of Energy System Optimization. The IEEMMS Inception Report was officially launched on 19th April 2012 at SME Corp Malaysia.

The project will provide technical assistance to develop and help establish market-oriented policy instruments needed to support sustainable progression of Malaysian manufacturing industries towards international best energy performance. The project will build knowledge and in-depth technical capacity for IEE, with an emphasis on system optimization and energy management system in industry, energy professionals and relevant Malaysian institutions. Technical assistance will be provided, including energy audits and support a limited number of pilot IEE projects with high replication and/or energy savings potential in the key industrial sectors.

You are cordially invited to attend an Awareness workshop that is designed as an introduction to the topic of industrial energy efficiency, energy management systems and ISO 50001 for enterprise top managers.
